THE TRUMP IMPEACHMENT

GOP looks to speedy end

Leaders more confident they have enough votes

By Gary Martin

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders grew more confident Thursday that they had the votes to block a motion to call additional witnesses in President Donald Trump's impeachment trial after a key senator declared he would vote no on the issue.

"There is no need for more evidence," Sen. Lamar Alexander, R-Tenn., said in a statement late Thursday.

His move gives Republicans a vote needed toward cutting off the impeachment trial and the ability to push toward acquittal of Trump as early as Friday.

WASHINGTON — As senators prepare for a possible vote on whether to call witnesses in President Donald Trump's impeachment trial, Democrats and even some news organizations have argued that former Vice President Joe Biden's son Hunter should be off-limits — on the Senate witness stand and even in news stories.

No China travel, U.S. says

Spread of coronavirus spurs WHO emergency declaration

By Ken Moritsugu | The Associated Press

BEIJING — The U.S. advised against all travel to China on Friday after the World Health Organization declared the outbreak of a new virus that has spread to more than a dozen countries a global emergency.

The number of cases spiked more than tenfold in a week, including the highest death toll in a 24-hour period reported Friday.

Meanwhile, the United States and South Korea confirmed their first cases of person-to-person spread of the virus. The man in the U.S. is married to a 60-year-old Chicago woman who got sick from the virus after she returned from a trip to Wuhan, the Chinese city that is the epicenter of the outbreak.
